PROPERTY HISTORY

The Inglenook legacy began in 1879 when Gustave Niebaum, a Finnish sea captain, wine connoisseur and entrepreneur, came to Rutherford to build a wine estate that would rival Europe's finest. When Niebaum's grandnephew, John Daniel Jr., inherited the chateau and vineyards in the 1930s, Inglenook had already earned international acclaim which was made legendary by the famed 1941 vintage.

Francis and Eleanor Coppola purchased the back portion of the property in 1975 (1500+ acres) and have spent forty years reuniting the original vineyards, returning winemaking operations to the chateau, and restoring Inglenook's illustrious heritage with the help of renowned wine consultant Stephane Derenoncourt and Head Winemaker Philippe Bascaules. In honor of this estate and its historical significance, we have restored the name Inglenook.

“Rutherford is the Pauillac of California. This is Cabernet country par excellence... Rutherford is full-throttle Cabernet in term of ripeness, and tends to have more structure, backbone, and longevity than almost any other California Cabernet.”

“All of these famous specific vineyards are on the so-called Rutherford Bench on the west side of the valley, a slightly elevated stretch of sedimentary gravelly sand and alluvial fans carved out by the Napa River”

ATTAINING ELEGANCE

In creating conditions for Balance,
we achieve Elegance

1. We prune early to advance ripening and look for moderate vigor.
2. We look for a balanced crop. Too low is an extreme.
3. We avoid over ripeness and high sun exposure.
4. We pick early and very gently to preserve the purity of grapes.

INGLENOOK DIRECTOR OF WINEMAKING

PHILIPPE BASCAULES

Personally chosen by Francis Coppola, renowned French winemaker Philippe Bascaules came to Napa from Bordeaux in 2011 to become General Manager of the great American wine estate, Inglenook.

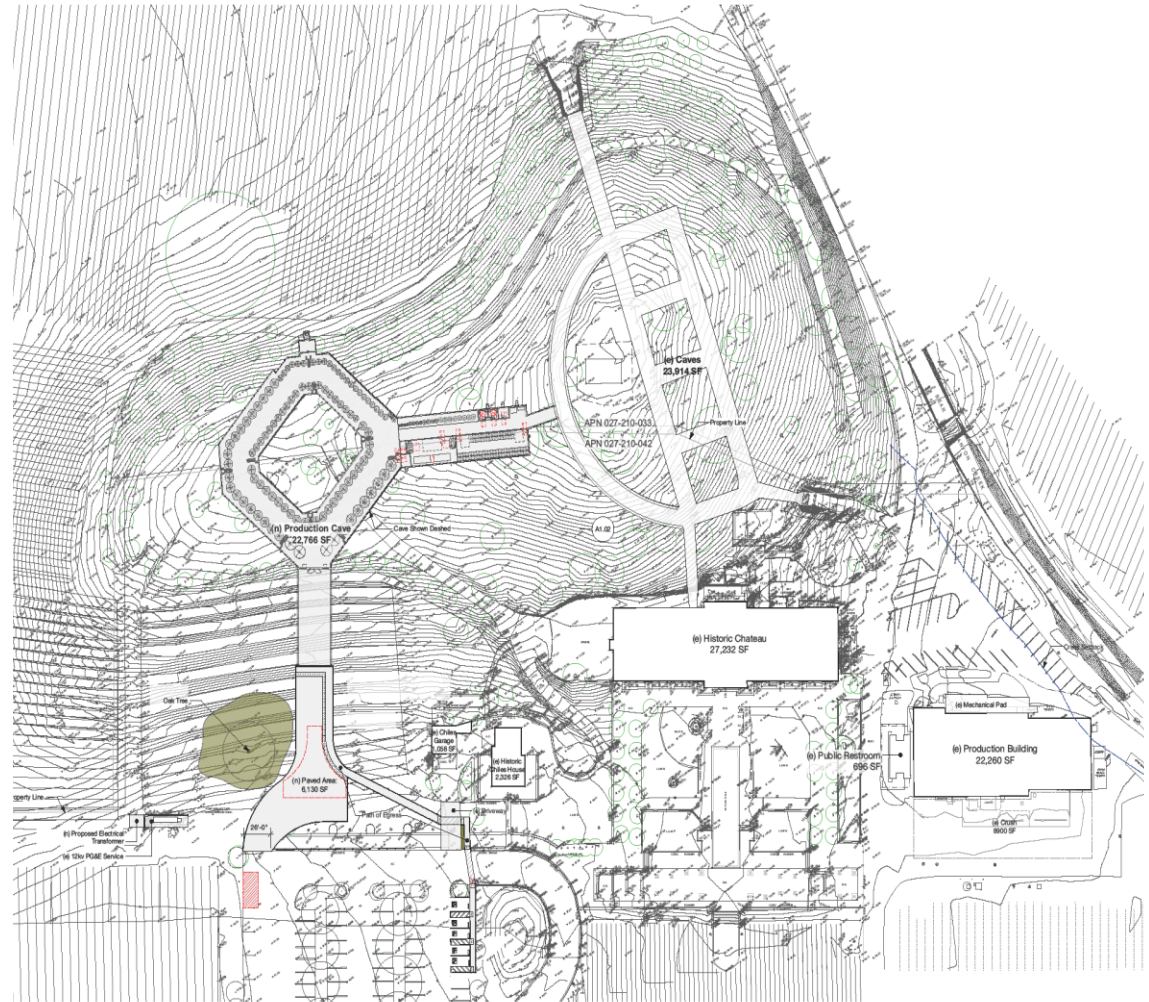

Born and bred in the South-West of France, Bascaules was a gifted student with a love of nature that ultimately inspired his passion for oenology. After receiving an agricultural engineering degree with a specialty in oenology from the graduate school of agronomy in Montpellier, France, Bascaules began his career at the legendary Chateau Mârgaux, one of France's five First Growth Bordeaux wineries, serving as assistant to the Estate Director, then was elevated to Estate Director overseeing the vineyards and cellars and working alongside renowned General Manager Paul Pontallier.

At Inglenook, Bascaules leads a team of talented winemaking professionals dedicated to Coppola's vision of making Inglenook the finest New World estate wine produced in the Old World style. In 1890, founder Gustave Niebaum stated that Inglenook would one day "produce the finest wines, to equal and excel the most famous vintages of Europe." Over a century later, Coppola and Bascaules continue the Inglenook legacy.

His philosophy is unassuming and clear-cut: "I prefer to know, rather than believe. I am not here to make changes just for the sake of it; I want to know that any changes I implement will improve the wine. Everything is a question of balance, but preserving elegance is essential. In my opinion, a 'grand vin' should be more than just sensational, it should also evoke emotion."

THE INGLENOOK PHILOSOPHY

- Legacy: Respect of our History, our Heritage, our Terroir
- Quality: We make our wines in a Consistent Style, we do not follow trends
- Personality: What is our “Wine Identity”

Let's start with tasting notes of some Inglenook wines

Founded in 1879 by Gustave Niebaum, INGLENOOK remains the crown jewel of the Napa Valley under the stewardship of the Coppola family.

2020 INGLENOOK CABERNET SAUVIGNON

The Inglénook Cabernet Sauvignon is a tribute to winemaker John Daniel Jr., who produced the much-heralded Inglénook 1941 Cabernet Sauvignon from vine cuttings brought to the property from Bordeaux by original founder Gustave Niebaum.

VINTAGE NOTES

Excellent canopy growth protected the fruit during the short stints of summer heat that led to 2020's early veraison. Harvest for this wine was fairly compressed, beginning with the Boardwalk Merlot block on September 7th, and concluding with Red Barn Clone 337 on September 28th. Practicing organic farming since the 1980's, Inglénook was one of the first Napa Valley vineyards to be certified organic in 1994. Experimentation is embedded in Inglénook's DNA, and within this ongoing evaluation, considerations of climate change, vine age, vintage and other factors reiterate that an estate of Inglénook's caliber and quality is forever a work-in-progress.

WINEMAKER'S TASTING NOTES

The 2020 Cabernet Sauvignon is striking in appearance, with its garnet color and youthful purple edge. The wine reveals vibrant expressions of crushed cherry, cedar, and red currant, as well as suggestions of forest floor and bay leaf. On the palate, the wine is medium bodied, exhibiting both considerable energy and elegance. Every glass of Inglénook Cabernet Sauvignon recalls the more than 140 years of Cabernet Sauvignon creation at Inglénook, taking you through the Chateau and its rich winemaking history that continues today.

2020 INGLENOOK RUBICON

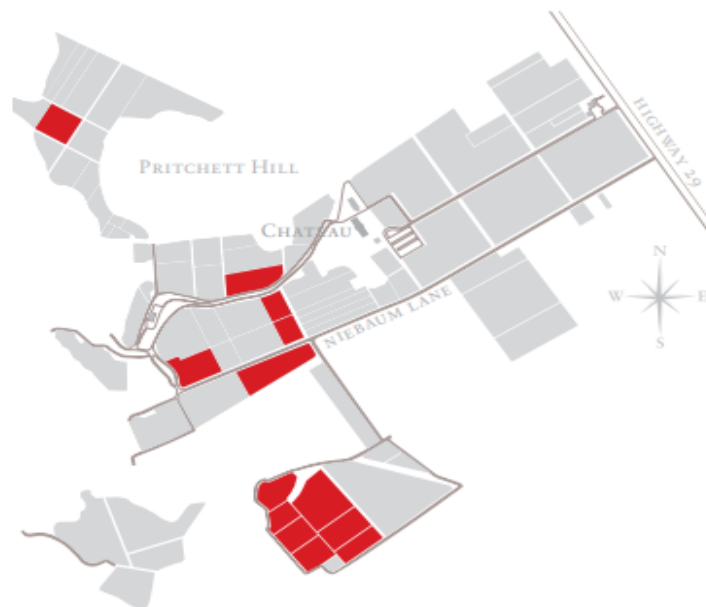

The production of Rubicon, Inglennook's premier red wine, began in 1978 and restored the estate's legacy of making world-class wines. Rubicon is an elegant blend from the finest vineyard blocks and showcases the highest potential of both the estate and the vintage. Under the guidance of Philippe Bascaules, Inglennook's Director of Winemaking, Rubicon proudly takes its place alongside much older, revered vintages of Inglennook in collectors' cellars around the world.

VINTAGE NOTES

Excellent canopy growth protected the fruit during the short stints of summer heat that led to 2020's early veraison. All fruit was hand-harvested in just over four weeks, beginning with Merlot from the Gio vineyard on August 22nd, and concluding with Cabernet Sauvignon from the Apple block in the Pritchett Hill vineyard on September 19th. Practicing organic farming since the 1980's, Inglennook was one of the first Napa Valley vineyards to be certified organic in 1994. Experimentation is embedded in Inglennook's DNA, and within this ongoing evaluation, considerations of climate change, vine age, vintage and other factors reiterate that an estate of Inglennook's caliber and quality is forever a work-in-progress.

WINEMAKER'S TASTING NOTES

The 2020 Rubicon opens with an array of focused aromatics, ranging from crème de cassis and tobacco leaf to dark chocolate and espresso notes. On the palate, the wine is rich and inviting, with the sleek, cohesive structure of a classic Rubicon vintage. The original aromatics return in the finish, along with a hint of allspice and clove. Each taste of Rubicon expresses the wine's freshness as it unites with the heritage and longevity of the estate.
